Introducing a Free Essential Skills Website designed especially for Ontario

The College Sector Committee has developed an interactive Essential Skills website that helps existing and soon-to-be apprentices succeed at their training.

Colleges, employers and other training providers can set-up individual classroom cohorts where instructors manage how the tool is used by their learners. Workers and learners can self register and use the website too.

Website features:

- Fifty-three updated Essential Skills profiles.
- Built-in assessments customized to individual trades. Assessments are adaptive, accurate and created using Ontario-specific workplace documents.
- Individualized test result reports that highlight skills and gaps. Test results are available immediately after testing.
- Individualized learning plans that point trainers and test-takers to learning materials that address skill gaps. All of the learning resources are available on-line and are free.
